DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-4, drawn to a split waveplate, classified in class 359, subclass 494.
- II. Claims 5 and 6, drawn to a method of forming a split waveplate, classified in class 117, subclass 1.
- III. Claims 7-13, drawn to a method and apparatus for sampling an optical input signal, classified in class 356, subclass 365.

Inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the split waveplate of Claim 1 can be made by a different process, such as joining two equivalent crystals the way that the direction of their refractive indices are different.

Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are a method of forming a split waveplate and an apparatus and method of sampling optical input signal. The claimed inventions have different modes of operations and different functions. The invention II is making a split waveplate by joining two portions of a waveplate, which was cut at 22.5 degrees off the direction of the refractive index to produce those portions. In contrast, the invention III claims an apparatus and method for sampling optical input by spatially rotating two parts of an input signal, the way that the first polarized portion is orthogonally polarized relative to the second polarized portion.

Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the method for sampling an optical signal can be practiced with another materially different product, such as a birefringent waveplate, the birefringence of which is controllable by application of an electric signal.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Conclusion

Papers related to this application may be submitted to Technology Center 2800 by facsimile transmission. Papers should be faxed to TC 2877 via the PTO Fax Center located in CP4-4C23.
